

Take-Home Exercise: FluffCo Single-Product Landing Page

The Brief

Design a single-product landing page for FluffCo - 5-star hotel quality bedding for the home. Pick one hero product (e.g. the signature pillow or a duvet) and design a page whose only job is to sell it. We want to see how you think, design, and build in AI tools. Treat FluffCo as your brand for the day - invent product details, pricing, reviews, and imagery freely.

What to build

- A single-product landing page designed and built in Claude, Manus, or your AI tool of choice
- Include a simple product/shopping section (product, variant, price, add-to-cart CTA) - it's about the design and layout, no working cart needed
- Congruent, on-brand design, premium "5-star hotel" feel, mobile-responsive

What to hand in

1. A live link we can open
2. The tool(s) you used and a one-line "why"
3. A short write-up (5 bullets or a Loom under 2 min):
 - Who the buyer is and the one thing you wanted the page to do
 - 2–3 CRO / ecommerce decisions you made and why
 - The first A/B test you'd run - hypothesis, variant, and metric

How we'll evaluate

- Design taste - premium, on-brand, polished
- Build quality - clean, well-structured, responsive
- Ecommerce / CRO thinking - intentional, revenue-aware decisions
- AI-native fluency - how effectively you drove the tools
- Communication - can you explain why, not just what

GRAPHIC AND BRAND ASSETS HERE